To welcome the new year, we have invited all of Sabbia artists to submit artwork around the idea of 'The Study'. Our artists have been asked to create or release smaller scale study pieces for this exhibition, further allowing the viewer a greater insight into the processes of an artists practice.

A smaller artwork allows the artist to explore elements or problems that might be involved with creating a piece, and allows them to finesse the work at this planning stage. They might troubleshoot light/transparency, colour, tone or form or use the time in the studio where they set no expectations for outcomes, and are able to work more with intuition/heart. It is thus necessary to use hands, head and heart to create an enduring artwork that delights, challenges and captivates its audience.
